John H. Mackey, a member of Local No. 444, Jacksonville, Fla., and State Representative of the A. F. of M., has been appointed Chief of Staff of Gov. Sidney J. Catts.

Local No. 9, Boston, Mass., has an auxiliary known as the "Coffin Dodgers' League." Applicants must be 50 or over and be able to play dominoes without conversation.

John Philip Sousa has consented to conduct the great concert to be given by Local No. 9, Boston, Mass., on April 29, 1917, for the benefit of the Musicians' Mutual Relief Society.

Every city, town and hamlet has its booster club, usually called Chamber of Commerce. Every inhabitant of the particular burg is supposed to boost for that community or be considered guilty of treason. To buy from anybody other than the boosters is an unspeakable crime; but in nearly all cases when the boosters get up some affair to boost the bailiwick, that needs musicians, the local musicians are ignored, and musicians imported. The latest offender is the Richmond, Va., boosters, who have imported a band for a local automobile show.

REDUCED INTERNATIONAL MUSICIAN.

The Publication Committee, in view of the outrageous advance of paper, which now costs over three times as much as formerly, and also taking into consideration the greatly enhanced cost of all material used in printing, decided that there was justification in reducing the journal from 16 to 8 pages, thus cutting expenses nearly one-half. Our readers must have a little patience if their contributions are somewhat curtailed, and sometimes altogether eliminated, because official matter must be given a preference. Let us hope this cruel war will soon be over and the country speedily return to normal times. The war is making the rich richer, but benefiting the workers but little.

TWENTY-SECOND CONVENTION.

It seems but yesterday since the gavel fell at 2:45 a. m., Sunday morning, May 14, 1916, declaring the Twenty-first Annual Convention of the A. F. of M. adjourned sine die.

The 1914 Des Moines Convention holds the honor of the largest attendance to date. Two hundred and twenty-one delegates attended this convention. The Cincinnati convention had 205 accredited delegates. The best previous record was St. Louis, 1908, with 201 delegates. In 1908 there were 481 Locals affiliated. In 1914 there were 661 Locals affiliated. In 1916 there were 693 Locals affiliated; and there will probably be 705 Locals in good standing at the close of the fiscal year, March 31, 1917. So as far as material to draw on is concerned, New Haven has the most Locals to draw on for delegates. It has another advantage. There are with New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and the six New England States, 204 Locals, you may say almost at the door of New Haven. These 204 Locals are entitled to 250 delegates. A large majority of these Locals ought to be represented. There are still 501 Locals outside of this territory in the United States and Canada, who will send their usual proportion of delegates. If New Haven will use the same snap and energy in persuading Locals to send delegates as was used to get the convention, there will be no question as to the success of the convention as far as attendance is concerned.

There never was a convention held in the history of the Federation that was not of the greatest importance at that time, and as the years roll by, and the Federation grows, new problems arrive that require the best brains of the Federation to handle. Many unexpected matters will be brought up in this convention that will require careful consideration. The Locals should see to it that only the best available talent is sent to represent them. Do not run away with the idea that attending a convention as a delegate is a pleasant vacation. If every delegate does his full duty as such his opportunities for recreation are few and far between. With the possible exception of one afternoon it is not permitted to allow any local entertainment to interfere with the business of a convention. The officers, chairmen and members of committees are worked the limit between sessions of the convention. A shirker is promptly spotted and granted scant courtesy. Every delegate is expected to do his full duty. A record is kept of the attendance and work of the convention, and every Local furnished official copies, so all may know what their delegates have done at the convention.

OBSERVED IN PASSING.

(By C. A. Weaver, Local No. 75.)

I note with keenest interest the communication from my dear old friend of the split-reed section, Brother Nichols, of Local No. 234, that New Haven is wide awake to the significance of the twenty-second annual convention of the American Federation of Musicians, scheduled for that city in the approaching month of May, and with a spirit of fiery determination characteristic of his perennial youthful vigor, intimates a purpose of making New Haven wrest the laurels now so proudly worn by Des Moines, as having eclipsed all attendance records in our entire Federation history.

If games of chance were not so inherently foreign to musical taste and temperament, Local No. 75 would wager a carload of Iowa golden corn against the choicest collection of wooden nutmegs the State of Connecticut ever produced, that it could not be done.

However, Des Moines views the New Haven program with no envious eyes. To have raised a standard which rival or contemporaneous cities are not only ambitious to emulate but to excel is glory enough for the time being.

If Nichols, Felsberg and Weil are samples of the timber of which Local No. 234 is composed, the New Haven convention will be a memorable gathering.

No. 75 sends advance greetings to Local No. 234, and, as usual, will be represented in the deliberations of the convention—the delegation personnel of which has not been determined at this writing.

* * *

I am free to confess that I have some interest in this convention entirely aside from matters musical. It will be the first time that my feet have ever pressed New England soil. I have a respect for that section of our common country which amounts to deep veneration. Some day I want a good, long vacation in which to climb her mountains, explore her valleys, and wander along the banks of her lakes and streams. It will seem like standing by the cradle in which American Liberty was first rocked. To inhale her atmosphere will be like visiting the schools in which New England character was developed. To walk among the graves of her illustrious dead will mean spiritual communication with the fathers and mothers who toiled and sacrificed in the days when "human souls were sorely tried," and who builded even "better than they knew." We smile in these modern times at the rigid customs and the straight-laced moralities of the Puritan days, but that period bore a vital relationship to the correct formation of our national character, and who is the iconoclast of today who would raise a hand to strike the Puritan story from our historic page?

* * *

Speaking of Puritanism brings to mind the time when blue law regulation of community conduct was in vogue. Blue laws—the kind which ornamented the Connecticut statute books in the long ago—are still in existence in many states of the Union. So far as I know the Connecticut blue laws have never been formally repealed. They have simply died and been buried beneath an avalanche of public opinion. When a law has been found to be impracticable and inoperative it should be formally repealed. It is a bad influence upon the public mind to have the statute books cumbered with useless and meaningless laws. Under such conditions the danger is always present that a bunch of long-haired men and short-haired women will band themselves together in a spasmodic reform crusade and seek through the machinery of the courts to revitalize those statutes which a rational public opinion has decided should pass into innocuous desuetude and be smothered.

Right here in Iowa we have a case in point. Nearly half a century ago the Iowa legislature made it a fineable and jailable offense to do any kind of work on the Sabbath. The enforcement of this law would mean the closing of every hotel, the stopping of every railway and street car, the preventing of every concert in a public park. And yet is was announced a few weeks ago that one Noah B. Wickham, of Oklahoma, would appear before the Iowa legislature, now in session, and ask that "a new set of teeth be placed in the jaws of this ancient statute" and its rigid enforcement demanded at the hands of the police power of the state.

Of course, a moss-back legislator was found who was willing to incorporate the views of this self-appointed ambassador of the Lord from Oklahoma, but the Senate Judiciary Committee promptly reported the bill for indefinite postponement. This pestiferous element is still busy, but the liberty-loving people up here are awake and your humble servant has been honored with a position of leadership in the contest with fanaticism. We opened the onslaught with a communication which was given a prominent place by the Des Moines and Iowa press, and which was published under the caption—"Blue Law Dental Science."

The next time I see Brother Peterson I am going to insist that he take proper measures to keep Oklahoma cranks at home. We have enough of the Iowa brand to occupy all of our spare time.

SAMPLE FREEDOM.

About 500 gentlemen, called the Congress of the United States, not one of whom lives in the District of Columbia, but represent communities from all over the United States, have refused to permit the people who live in the District and have their homes there, the right to vote on a question of vital interest to the residents of the District. This is the "land of the free and the home of the brave," and the Congress of that land ought to be the exempler of freedom. Yes they are, when the votes are cast at home, but not among the disfranchised residents of the capitol of the nation.

MANUFACTURING PUBLIC OPINION.

In discussing the compulsory arbitration bill before a committee, Senator Newlands, chairman of the committee said that "a public opinion would be possible if the facts in industrial disputes were known." President Gompers replied that public opinion in such cases is "manufactured" by newspapers and magazines that are practically all owned by the opponents of the workers.

Never were truer words spoken. It does not make any difference what the nature of the controversy may be between employer and employe, the worker is always wrong, at least so opine the daily press of the country. The labor movement is fortunate, indeed, to have such a man as Sam Gompers at the head of it.

PRESIDENT SAMUEL GOMPERS HONORED.

On a recent Sunday labor leaders from all over the country gave a dinner in New York to Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of his activity in labor circles, his 67th birthday and his golden wedding. Twenty-seven of Gompers' relatives were present, including his wife and father, Saul Gompers, who is 92 years old, and blind. Among the guests were Alton B. Parker, District Attorney Edward Swann, John Mitchell, chairman of the State Industrial Commission; Cornelius Ford, United States Public Printer, and many others of prominence.

MEDITATION.

Editor International Musician:

I have before me four or five musical publications, the Metronome, the Etude, the Courier, the New York Musician and Knocker, Music and Musicians, and several others, and none of them have anything that applies to the bread and butter end of the question. I have been asked to write something for them, but thought I would give the International Musician the preference, being a journal in which I was most directly interested, and knowing you as a fair editor who would not quibble, censorize or ridicule an honest endeavor to help enlighten the human mind on this damnable state of affairs or conditions and system. The most of these publications are made up of a lot of blatant, rank, rot. They try to be funny. Funny! As though that was all the musicians required, when, in reality, it is to my mind a tragedy. Our members have come to me and told me they do not know where the next job is to come from, and they have not a penny in sight; and there are a whole lot of them. They are men capable on their instruments, good musicians and experienced men, but can get nothing to do; they have learned nothing else; spent their time at music, and now, because they have a few gray or white hairs (like mystelf) they are despised and not wanted, and I have often thought or asked the question: Has the great God cursed a man by turning his hair white? What would they do if a man's nose turned blue or red and his face green or brown or black or yellow? Is this the spirit of unionism, of organized labor; is this the great protection, justice and consistency of organized labor, who give to the outside public, society, and make demands for their dear members, and then call themselves Dear Sirs and Brothers? God forbid! It is for these I would like to write and help enlighten them.

Learn To Play Tympani Correctly

Sietz's Modern Method of Tympani Playing teaches the proper position of the tympani; the correct way to hold the sticks; the best method for tuning; and the right way of executing the various beats, rolls, etc.—in fact every detail of tympani playing is thoroughly explained.

The "Orchestra Studies" section consists of 130 pages of tympani parts from Overtures, Oratorios, Symphonies, and Operas. These parts alone, if purchased singly, would cost many times the price of the instructor.

Mr. Fred J. Sietz has had many years of experience as tympanist in the best musical organizations of both Europe and the United States, and this experience combined with an extensive knowledge of the mechanical construction of tympani, places him in a position to write a more thorough Tympani Instructor than has ever, heretofore, been published.

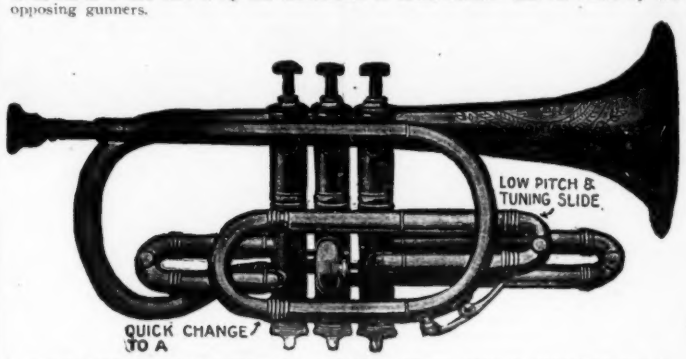
Napoleon Bonaparte

The great Frenchman is being aped by French, German and Briton today. And do you know the real reason for his defeat at Waterloo?

Historians say that it all came about through asking a French native whether a certain road was a good road to a certain place. The native said it was. And Napoleon's Legionnaires marched full-tilt into a great and almost hidden ravine, the front ranks forced into it by the momentum of those behind—and all raked by the opposing gunners.



THE NEW "THREE-STAR" B♭ CORNET, WITH QUICK CHANGE TO A

There's one sure way to lose-out when buying a cornet—and that is to take the "directions" of those who recommend—in printed testimonials—certain cornets. They're paid "natives" and paid to direct you wrong!

The "THREE-STAR" is the surest road to fine tune, long range, big tone, speedy technique and fine orchestra effects.

Strike at the Musical Instrument Factories Still On

A story is being circulated among the members and Locals of the American Federation of Musicians, to the effect that the strike of the Metal Polishers, Buffers, Platers, Brass and Silver Workers' Union, of North America, against the following musical instrument factories has been settled:

ELKHART, IND—C. G. Conn, Ltd., Buescher Band Instrument Company, The Martin Band Instrument Company, Elkhart Instrument Company, Emil K. Blessing Co.

CHICAGO, ILL.—Frank Holton Company, Taylor & Horn Company, Harry B. Jay Company.

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH.—J. W. York & Sons Band Instrument Company, Grand Rapids Musical Instrument Company.

CLEVELAND, OHIO—H. N. White Band Instrument Company.

That statement is absolutely false and the story is evidently being circulated by the representatives of the above unfair firms in their desperation to make sales among our members.

Every member is urged to keep this matter in mind, and in case any settlement is effected, each Local Union of our organization will receive a circular to that effect.

The following firms are strictly union and their instruments bear the union label:

American Band Instrument Company, Grand Rapids, Mich.
Brua C. Keefer Mfg. Co., Williamsport, Pennsylvania.
C. W. Osgood Co., Elkhart, Ind.
F. Millard Company, Detroit, Mich.
William Seidel & Company, Elkhart, Ind.
James Sistek Band Instrument Co., Cleveland, Ohio.
Vega-Standard Band Instrument Co., Boston, Mass.

EIGHT-HOUR DAY---CLOSED SHOP---UNION LABEL USED

Everything in, on, or about Keefer Instruments is designed to please professional musicians. Our patronage is so great among A. F. of M. members that we are THE ONLY UNION HOUSE among the ten larger factories in this country. The other nine can and do operate non-union factories without offending their largely-amateur, mostly-up-country clients. Frankly, we can't. Every instrument we make, from Bugles to BB flat Basses, is union-labelled.

Compare the "Grenadier" Cornet shown here with the cornets of any other dozen makers. Note its Low Drainage Point. The main or mouth-branch is placed as low as possible in relation to the valve-slides—for perfect drainage. No water can be blown into the slides. That, like the union label, is a point practical union men admire.

The January "Band World," which we publish, and will mail you free of charge—gives the acoustic reasons for Keefer supremacy among professionals. It's practically a Primer in Acoustics. You'll learn a lot from the January number. Ask for it.

The 1917 Keefer Catalog is a book no band or orchestra player can afford to overlook when in the market for an instrument. Free on request.

Terms made easy. Old instruments taken in trade. Full trial before purchase allowed—with return-at-our-expense privilege.
